“Analyzing Written and Spoken Data”
Sponsored by the UW System Leadership Site

When: Friday, February 26, 2010
Time: 10:00am - 4:00pm
Location: Pyle Center, Madison

Who should attend?
This program is designed to assist researchers who have collected written or spoken data in one or more of the following methods

~ Student Journals
~ D2L Discussion Boards
~ Student Papers
~ Interviews
~ Focus Groups
~ Other forms of written and spoken data and are now wondering how to analyze and make sense of the data.

Presentations: Content Analysis (Renee Meyers, Coordinator of UWS SoTL Leadership Site) and Grounded Theory (Katina Lazarides, Communication and Project Specialist for the UWS SoTL Leadership Site). Nancy Chick (Associate Professor of English and Wisconsin Teaching Fellows and Scholars Program Co-Director) will offer a short, hands-on workshop on how to get started using Grounded Theory with written data.

Workshop is open to the first 35 registrants. Please register by Friday, February 12, 2010, by emailing Katina Lazarides (kazar@uwm.edu). Include your name, institution, department, and any dietary restrictions.

We look forward to seeing you at the workshop!

Renee A. Meyers
UWS Leadership Site

Katina Lazarides
UWS Leadership Site